

Horizon Nuclear Power Statement on Final Weightman Report

Alan Raymant, Chief Operating Officer of Horizon, said:

"We welcome the report. We also welcome the fact that the assessment of UK reactor designs was put on hold to ensure the report's findings could be incorporated.

"The UK nuclear industry has a strong track record of learning safety lessons and this should always be the priority. We will of course review the report in detail, but we agree with all the recommendations relating to new build and intend to incorporate them, from the development stage of our project onwards."
